SUBJECT: 2004 Dodge Durango Seat Bolts

It has come to our attention that 2004 Dodge Durangos have air bag deployment sensors built into the seat bases. Loosening the seat bolts is not recommended by the manufacturer and will create a code (airbag light on) in the onboard computer system. This will require the vehicle to be returned to a DaimlerChrysler authorized service center for recalibration. Havis-Shields now offers a mounting system C-TM-DUR (FIG 1) that makes it possible to mount consoles and computer mounts with out the need to use seat bolts. The kit comes complete with Trak, mounting brackets, and side and rear panels to give the installation a clean and professional appearance.
